Dear OSP hiring team,

I am applying for the Information Technology Service Desk Manager position. The role's emphasis-daily service desk operations, field and headquarters support, quality of customer service, supervisory accountability, training, and continuous process improvement-aligns with leadership experience I have in high-stakes engineering organizations where incidents and unclear ownership erode trust quickly.

I have led multi-person technical teams, partnered across product and operations, and invested in runbooks, clarity of expectations, and calm incident handling so frontline staff can predict how issues get resolved. I respect OSP's need for in-office presence in Salem given law-enforcement reliability and security expectations, and I am prepared for that model if selected.

I hold a BS in Computer Information Systems, am a U.S. veteran, and am motivated by public safety missions where service quality and transparency matter as much as technical depth. I would welcome discussing how OSP measures service-desk performance today and where you see the largest opportunities for the next manager to raise the bar.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best regards, [Your name]
